

How can the Intuitivum Group accelerate my Procurement Transformation?

Intuitivum Group, LLC Procurement Benchmarking

Procurement Transformation isn't easy. If you are like most procurement leaders, you've already started a strategic sourcing effort to get quick savings, but you're finding it hard to figure out what to do next. Do I improve my IT systems to gain efficiency and reduce errors? What if I focus on cleaning up my master data to better understand and control my spend? Should I modify my processes to align them with those I know to be highly effective? Do I focus on changing my organization and improving my staff capability? By now, you've probably concluded that you will need to do all of this and more, but you're struggling to prioritize your efforts.

At the Intuitivum Group, we understand this need, and have developed highly effective benchmarking and project evaluation methods that will show you where you stand against the strong performers and give you the cost/benefit analysis needed to prioritize your efforts.

To deliver you maximum value, we will benchmark your procurement processes, systems and organization capability against proven procurement standards and procedures. We have a broad array of process documentation that meets this need. Our standards, procedures and benchmark protocols cover the full range of activities that you may be looking to improve: Organization Design, Strategic Sourcing, Transaction Management, Vendor Relationship Management and Organization Performance Management. We can use this solid background to work with you to rapidly understand your current status, develop cost effective changes and help you transform your procurement organization to be among the best in your industry.
